CONSULTANT POSITION

We are always looking for hard working consultants who have a background in recruitment or in HR positions where recruitment is the core responsibility of your role. Our Consultants have been working for a minimum of 5 years and have experience in research, head hunting, interviews and communicating with clients. They are also experienced in contact clients directly, meeting with them and establishing new clients by providing proposals to them. Our Consultants are also usually familiar with one or two disciplines and can provide advice to other staff who are working in those industries.

Suitable for people who:

- Have worked in recruitment for a minimum of 3 years;
- Have some experience of interviewing candidates by themselves and have communicated with clients for a minimum of 2 years;
- Or have approximately 4-5 years working experience in another disciplines that can be related to the role of a Consultant;
- Speak and write English well;
- Eager to learn and experience new things;
- Team player;
- Proactive and efficient;
- Can work well under pressure and time constraints;
- Have excellent interpersonal skills and have confidence to work directly with Clients and Senior level candidates;

Our company has an honest and ethical working culture. Our staff are open to sharing information with each other and have solid working relationships. We respect our clients and candidates and have a professional profile in the market. If you fit the profile, believe you would suit our company culture and have a keen interest in the recruitment industry, then please forward your resume to us at enquiries@jmgemini.com.
